How should West Sac plan for future growth?

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Two decades have past since West Sacramento became a city, and it's time – according to state regulations – for the city to update its general plan. The new plan, still in its early stages, will be used as a blueprint for land use through the year 2030 and beyond.

Since the city formed in 1987, West Sacramento's population has gone from about 28,000 to almost 48,000. Over the 20-year life of the new plan, the city's population is expected to grow to about 73,500. Ultimately, say planners, the may reach around 110,600 people, depending partly on choices made now.

Among the questions to be decided are how densely to develop the city's downtown and riverfront areas, and whether to expand city limits to the north or south.

"Our job as planners is to present the information as clearly as possible, and let the citizens make the policy decisions," said City Planner Steve Rikala. Rikala and Senior Planner David Tilley met with the News-Ledger last week to talk about the general plan update.

Their department has produced three "land use alternatives" as a starting point for discussion by local residents, businesspeople and city officials.

"We wanted to make the alternatives as specific as possible and as distinct as possible," said Rikala.

The first proposed land use map, Alternative A, makes relatively "minor" changes to the city's zoning map as it stands now.

"Alternative C is based on expanding to the north and south," said Rikala. That alternative otherwise sticks pretty close to Alternative A. Alternative B projects the intensification of the riverfront and corridors (including West Capitol and Sacramento avenues)," he added. "There's absolutely no reason the city council, when they make a plan, can't choose bits and pieces from each alternative."

Developers have asked West Sacramento to consider approving projects both north of city limits and to the south, but city officials don't have a lot of specifics yet on those proposals. As outlined now, both proposals present a lot of "challenges" to flood protection and traffic issues, Rikala said. It is possible that the developers may successfully argue that the benefits of their expansion projects will outweigh the costs.

Will any of the proposals radically alter the density or traffic congestion of existing neighborhoods?

"I don't think so," answered Rikala. "Alternative B really concerns itself with intensifying development on West Capitol Avenue, Sacramento Avenue, Pioneer Bluff and Washington."

"These are area's we've already planned for intensive development," added Tilley. "This option intensifies it further."

But no proposed options would add a lot more density to residential areas outside those areas – like Southport below the barge canal – Rikala said.

Expanding the city to the north or south (by annexing County land) could create traffic impacts, but those remain to be studied.

The city planning department is now inviting citizens to review the proposed plans, and comment on them. They will be discussed, modified and finally adopted by the city council around early 2011.

A public workshop on the alternatives is planned for Thursday, Oct. 15, at 7 p.m. in the city hall galleria, 1110 West Capitol Avenue. Future meetings will follow through at least next year.

You may view the land use alternatives at http://mintierharnish.com/projects/westsac/index.html.

Sneak peek at new library branch

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Workers are shelving books, installing racks, finishing the wiring and doing all the other things necessary to get the new Arthur F. Turner Branch Library ready for a grand opening party on Saturday.

You're invited to the party.

Festivities start at 11 a.m. in the parking lot at 1212 Merkley Avenue. Activities will include face painting, balloon animals and bookmark-making for kids, music from River City High School's jazz band, and hot dogs provided by local Rotary Club members. There will be a ribbon-cutting at 1 p.m., and the new branch will be open for business. A special "storytime" for kids will be

Parade

Saturday marked the return of both the West Sacramento "Community Parade" and of the "Neighbors Fair.

The fair was held on the riverfront, and featured fun, food and live entertainment.

The parade -- for the first time -- was held in the city's north area, with a reviewing stand along Cummins Way. Next year, it will be held in Southport.

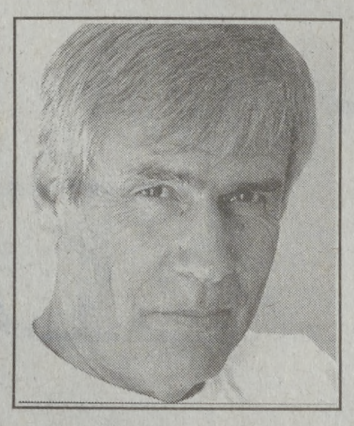
'Walk for Autism' was a morning well spent

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Participants in Sunday's 'Walk for Autism' rally near Raley Field in West Sacramento

This past Sunday, I joined family members and thousands of other people from all over the greater Sacramento area at West Sacramento's Raley Field for the 2nd Annual Walk for Autism in Sacramento. The two-mile route took walkers through River Walk Park up along the Sacramento River and then back to the ballpark, where organizers and local and state politicians had earlier made speeches promising to find more answers and funding for what has rapidly become the fastest-growing serious childhood developmental disability in the United States, with a new case of autism being diagnosed every 20 minutes.

Autism is a complex neuro-biological disorder which now strikes 1 in every 100 American children, which means that about 673,000 American children have autism. Those shocking numbers were released just this week by the CDC (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention), confirming other alarming government estimates. Autism occurs in all racial, ethnic, and social groups and is four times more likely to affect boys than girls. It impairs a young person's ability to communicate and relate to others and is associated with rigid routines and repetitive behaviors, and the symptoms can range from very mild to quite severe.

Walk Now for Autism, the nation's largest grassroots autism walk program, is Autism Speaks' signature fundraising and awareness event, taking place in communities across the United States, as well as in Canada and the United Kingdom.

Powered by volunteers and families with loved ones on the autism spectrum, this successful grassroots fundraising effort not only generates vital funds for autism research but also attempts to raise awareness about the increasing prevalence of autism and the need for increased research funding to combat this complex and still poorly understood disorder.

According to information provided by Autism Speaks, if your child has symptoms related to autism, early intervention is critical to gain maximum benefit from existing therapies. Although parents may have concerns about labeling a toddler as "autistic", the earlier the diagnosis is made, the earlier interventions can begin. Currently, there are no effective means to prevent autism, no fully effective treatments, and no cure. Research indicates, however, that early intervention in an appropriate educational setting for at least two years during the preschool years can result in significant improvements for many young children with autism spectrum disorders. As soon as autism is diagnosed, early intervention instruction should begin. Effective programs focus on developing communication, social, and cognitive skills.

School districts everywhere are slowly becoming more aware of the problems faced by young students on the autism spectrum and parents of these children are encouraged to contact their school district long before they start kindergarten to learn more about the special programs and assistance that is available to them.

"Early intervention is really the key right now," one of the volunteers told me at last Sunday's Walk for Autism, "and that is one of the reasons why we are having these walks all over the country, to bring as much awareness as possible to autism, and especially to those parents who might have children with symptoms. Although researchers have an awful lot of work to do before we better understand what causes autism and why it has exploded in the way it has, we do know that children who start getting help as soon as possible seem to have much better results down the road. So in addition to the fundraising we're doing today to help support more research, we're also here to network with families and friends who are dealing with this terrible problem and to let them know that there is help and hope out there."

Children with autism spectrum disorders generally have problems in three crucial areas of development and here are the red flags compiled by the Mayo Clinic:

Social skills: fails to respond to his or her name; has poor eye contact; appears not to hear you at times; resists cuddling and holding; appears unaware of others' feelings; seems to prefer playing alone and retreats into his or her own world.

Language: starts talking later than other children; loses previously acquired ability to say words or sentences; does not make eye contact when making requests; speaks with an abnormal tone or rhythm (may use a singsong voice or robot-like speech); can't start a conversation or keep one going; may repeat words or phrases, but doesn't understand how to use them.

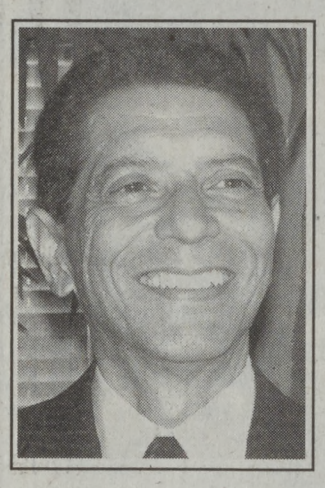
SPORTS INSIDER



By Richard Novoa

I just returned from my fun filled sports weekend to the Windy City where I enjoyed a Cubs game on Friday, a Notre Dame overtime thriller Saturday followed by Da Bears rout of the Detroit Lions Sunday afternoon but more importantly, I witnessed firsthand, the city's reaction to the stunning rejection of International Olympic Committee.

The IOC announced on October 2nd that Rio De Janeiro will be hosting the 2016 Summer Olympics and Chicago's bid at hosting the 2016 Summer Olympic Games officially ended when the Olympic Committee voted them out in the round of four. The big shocker was that Chicago was voted out first followed by Japan and Spain.

The bid cost the city of Chicago $49.3 million which was paid by the private sector and the cost of the infrastructure would have been financed by the government with the early cost estimates hovered at $5 billion, with another $1.1 billion needed for the lakeside Olympic Village and an additional estimated $366 million for a temporary 80,000 seat Olympic Stadium.

Chicago Olympic boosters estimated an economic impact of $22 billion in the entire state of Illinois and the creation of thousands of new jobs. Over $35 million in cash and $13 million in goods had been pledged; including donations in excess of $100,000 from at least 225 individuals and corporations and the city had announced a $500 million insurance policy against cost overruns and revenue shortfalls.

The proposed budget compares unfavorably to the costs of the Beijing Olympics, which are estimated to have cost $40 billion. Further, the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens initially budgeted to cost $2.4 billion, in fact cost $9 billion.

The City of Chicago doesn't know it yet but their probably lucky the IOC chose Rio instead of the Windy City! Money is tight and times are tough but I guess you could blame it on Rio but what puzzles me the most, is what insurance company, in its right mind, would even consider insurance for Olympic Games cost overruns?

Diamond Notes

The Major League baseball season closed its gates on our bay area teams with the Giants (88-74) finishing a successful season, seven games behind playoff bound Los Angeles and four games out of the wild card spot while the Oakland A's (75-87) claimed the cellar in the AL West, 22 games behind the Angels.

The road to the 2009 World Series starts on Tuesday night in Minnesota with a one game playoff between the Twins and Tigers with the winner traveling to New York to take on the "Boys in Pin Stripes". The Yankees should win their series and play the winner of the Angels and Red Sox series.

The Angels have better pitching and should take care of Boston but the Red Sox play different baseball in October and the thought of playing their buddies from New York in the best of seven is delightful.

Thursday afternoon marked a "first" in River City High School history.

The school's water polo team took to the home court at the new RCHS campus pool for the first time. Both the boys and girls teams responded by posting wins for the RCHS Raiders. The girls' squad took home a 14-4 win, while the Raider boys defeated Antelope 8-6. The squads play Dixon in a home match next week.

On a windy day on September 30, River City High School got ready for their Cross Country meet at Elk Grove Regional Park. Nerves ran high as runners warmed up and stretched before the race. The J.V. athletes ran a two mile course, with the girls and boys running together. Varsity ran three miles and the boys and the girls ran separately.

Erica Barajas, a varsity runner from River City said, "I have been running since 7th grade and have been getting faster every year. With the weather getting colder, I am hoping to run well this season."

The next Cross Country meet is on October 14 at Granite Bay.

Got an extra digital camera to donate?

The recently-revived journalism program at River City High School is looking for a few good cameras.

The class is seeking donation of a couple of good "point and shoot" digital cameras.

The class also needs a higher-end "digital SLR" camera capable of handling sports photography. An ideal "digital SLR" would be able to shoot multiple frames per second, have the capability of accepting telephoto and other lenses, and be able to take good photos in low-light conditions such as night-time football games.

If you have a "point and shoot" digital camera or a "digital SLR" (or lenses) that you may be able to donate to the journalism class, contact teacher Aland Hoermann, 375-7800 ext. 2809, or email him at ahoermann@wusd.k12.-ca.us.

Junior Raiders: a sweep

West Sacramento's "Junior Raiders" youth football squad came away with wins in all four divisions of play on Saturday against the Del Campo Junior Cougars.

The Raiders posted the following scores:

The junior pee wees won 12-0, the pee wees won 27-7, the junior midgets won 18-8 and the midgets shut out Del Campo 37-0.

The squad plays in Elk Grove on Saturday.

Behavior: performs repetitive movements, such as rocking, spinning, or hand-flapping; develops specific routines or rituals; becomes disturbed at the slightest change in routine or rituals; moves constantly; may be fascinated by parts of an object, such as spinning wheels of a toy; may be unusually sensitive to light, sound and touch.

Last Sunday's Walk for Autism raised almost $190,000 and if you would like to learn more about autism and what you can do to help, please go to www.autismspeaks.org. If you would like to make a donation that will help with much needed research into autism, you can send it to:

In the National League, the Dodgers and Cardinals series should be fun to watch and I consider this a tossup especially with the "Blue" hosting the fifth game, if needed. The Phillies are loaded up for bear and should take care of Colorado but it will be a rematch of 2007, when the NL Wild Card Rockies swept the Phillies en route to a World Series appearance.

NFL Week 5

The 49ers (3-1) embarrassed the Rams 35-0 at Candlestick Park last Sunday with the Niners scoring touchdowns by their special teams, defense and offense for the first time since 1997. The 49ers are now in good position in the NFC West after beating Seattle, Arizona and the Rams.

The 49ers (-2 ½) big test will be next Sunday against the rested Atlanta Falcons who enjoyed their bye week. Now with 49ers off to a good start, unsigned first round pick Michael Crabtree and his agent want to discuss his signing with the Niners. The timing couldn't be better with their offensive struggling because Gore is out with another sprained ankle and their passing game a little suspect but Shaun Hill's starting winning streak at Candlestick Park reached seven games!

Oh-boy, the Oakland Raiders (1-3) laid another egg with another horrible display of offensive football. Against the NFL's (Houston) 32-ranked run defensive, Oakland running backs combined for 31 yards on 19 carries. Russell had another poor performance at QB completing 12 of 33 passes for 128 yards and was sacked twice and lost one fumble. Enough said because the Silver and Black attack is headed to the "Big Apple" to try and move the ball against the 4-0 Giants. My only suggestion for Oakland (+16) this week is to put in a quarterback that can run for his life, and punt baby, just punt!

Aztec's Picks

My dog Aztec was 3-1 with his NFL picks but his "College Lick of the Week" is becoming a thorn in his paw! Notre Dame won but didn't cover so Aztecs record entering the fifth week of the season improves to 10-10.

In the "College Lick of the Week", Aztec has been picking the winner but the point spread has been giving him fleas, so this week the dog really likes his cousins, the Washington Huskies (+3 ½) at home as underdogs against Arizona.

In the NFL, the Panthers (-3 ½) will skin Washington, the Cards (-5 ½) will ambush the Texans in Arizona and 49ers (-2 ½) will make the Falcons believers. On Monday night the Fish (+1 ½) will upset the Jets at home in Miami.

Kings Korner

The Kings 2009/10 exhibition season tips off on Tuesday night in Portland followed by another contest on Wednesday between these two clubs. There will be no television coverage but if you want to meet the Kings and their staff, the Kings are planning a first time in franchise history "Meet the Players Luncheon".

Sacramento Kings are inviting their fans to dine with Kings Players, coaches and personnel at the "Kings Tip-Off Lunch" hosted by the Sacramento Sports Commission and Sacramento Convention & Visitors Bureau at Memorial Auditorium on Monday, October 26, at noon.

The "Kings Tip-Off Lunch" will feature the Kings team, Kings President of Basketball Operations Geoff Petrie, Kings Head Coach Paul Westphal and Kings Broadcasters Jerry Reynolds and Grant Napear.

Individual tickets are $55. Additional ticket opportunities include a table of 10, a table of nine with a Kings player, a table of nine with a Kings Broadcaster (Reynolds or Napear), a table of nine with Kings President of Basketball Operations Geoff Petrie and a table of nine with Kings Head Coach Paul Westphal.

To purchase tickets and get more information regarding table opportunities, please call the Sacramento Sports Commission at 916-808-2400 or email sacsports@cityofsacramento.org.

Kings Partners and Season Ticket Holders will receive a special savings on all individual ticket purchases. All "Kings Tip-Off Lunch" ticket holders will receive a commemorative Kings 25th Anniversary t-shirt. For more information, please visit sacsports.com.

Craigslist ad leads to West Sac raid

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A man whose motorcycle was stolen believes he found it – or at least parts of it – on West Sacramento's Martinique Street in Southport.

The motorcycle theft occurred outside this city, said Sgt. Jennifer Grillat of the West Sacramento Police Department. The victim watched the Internet classified ad site "Craigslist" for signs of it.

"Someone who had their motorcycle stolen was looking on Craigslist, and saw a motorcycle that resembled his," Grillat told the News-Ledger. "There were a bunch of pictures. He could see scratches on the rear-view mirror that he recognized, and the tires looked like his. He called the (seller) on Martinique Street, and went to see it. He recognized a bunch of its parts."

Police took it from there.

"We found out that one of the occupants of the home was on 'searchable probation,' and that's how we got into the house," said Grillat.

Police units arrived for a search early Monday morning.

Was the place a suspected "chop shop," where stolen vehicles were disassembled for the sale of their parts?

"There weren't a bunchy of motorcycles there, but there were parts," Grillat responded. "The bike in question had a different frame and engine, but some of the parts were identified by the owner."

Arrested was resident Durmishkhan Chkuasely, age approximately 22.

The motorcycle was impounded as evidence.

Woman dies after parking lot mishap

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A 73-year old West Sacramento woman has died of her injuries after being hit by a car in the Raley's supermarket parking lot on Thursday. The woman was identified as Jewell Mattos.

"A 76-year old woman was driving a car in the Raley's parking lot," said Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department. "The victim was walking across the street. The driver allowed her to pass, but instead of hitting the brakes, apparently hit the gas and the car hit her."

Mattos fell to the ground unconscious, but was taken to a hospital still breathing. The emergency-responders apparently did not think her injuries would prove fatal, but Mattos died the next day.

"Any charges (against the driver) are pending," added Sockman.

NEWS-LEDGER EDITORIAL:

Bits & pieces

Have you heard about a "walking school bus?"

It's an idea – and a movement – that has taken root elsewhere in the country. The concept is simple. Two or more families along a route to a nearby school organize the "walking bus route" for their kids, and take turns (or use trained volunteers) to walk the children to school. Chaperones can trade off at designated points, and take turns on different days.

The walking school bus is a way for kids (and adults) to get a little exercise while getting kids to school under safe supervision.

For ideas and information on starting a "walking school bus" in your neighborhood, visit www.walkingschoolbus.org.

The News-Ledger will long remember the fun of the home opener football game last month at River City High School's new stadium. But we can't quite recommend that you take your family (particularly your youngsters) to a future Raider game.

The RCHS students, it seems, lack some social skills. To be precise, some of them don't seem to know how to control their mouths (or perhaps don't care to do so). If you spend time in the stands, or mill among them walking to the hot dog stand, you will hear a lot of unrestrained foul language. All in the name of casual conversation.

Not all students are guilty of this discourtesy, of course. But enough of them are polluting the air with vulgarity to make visitors with young children feel uncomfortable, and perhaps unwelcome.

On Monday, your school district announced a special meeting on Tuesday to accept public comments on a proposed new charter school.

That's not a lot of advance notice. Maybe you didn't want to attend that meeting anyway. But this is a thing that happens frequently at Washington Unified.

WUSD seems all too reliant on scheduling special meetings with the minimum legally allowed amount of advance notice. It's hard to know whether this is a deliberate effort to keep the public away from its meetings, or things are just happening at the last minute over there. It happens too often.

Letters to the Editor

On the status of our Bryte neighborhood post office ("our," meaning the community's, of course), vis á vis its listing on the "official" postal list of potential closures.

While, at this point, it is not on said list, I must protest any such statement that gives the false impression that we are safely out of the woods regarding it's potential closure, so to speak. I am, after all, the one who first brought this to the attention of our neighborhood and it's communally active leaders. I am also the one who, while standing in the Bryte post office conducting business, had a lengthy conversation with the West Sacramento Post Master (Mistress, actually), who unabashedly let me know that the only way our branch would stay open, would be from "orders from on high". That fact has not changed, any USPS D.C. Headquarters listing to the contrary notwithstanding.

I have recently received a limited response from yet another functionary of the United States Postal Service, a Mister Robert MacKloskey, in response to my re-mailing of 15 pages of petitions to keep our little branch open, along with my cover letter and copies of the two letters Mary Lasell received in response to her letter to the USPS.

He, following precedent, procedure and what have you, has once again "kicked it downstairs", so to speak, and referred it to "Your local managers" (you know, the one's who are the problem in the first place) and suggested I (we) direct our questions to them (and/or her). Well. As they say: "Been there. Done that." I shall (hopefully without interference, but with much appreciated assistance) continue to pursue this matter to it's fullest extent.

I always have, and I always will.

$400,000 for children's health

Health & Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius recently announced $40 million in grants to 69 grantees in 41 states, and the District of Columbia, to help find and enroll children who are uninsured, but eligible for either Medicaid or the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP), which in California are known respectively as Medi-Cal and Healthy Families.

As part of the grant release, $399,900 will go to the Yolo County Children's Alliance and its partners CommuniCare Health Centers, RISE, Inc. and the Yolo Family Resource Center. The grant will help fund active outreach and enrollment of children, ages 0-18, in health insurance programs such as Medi-Cal and Health Families.

"To date, The Yolo Children's Health Initiative has made substantial progress enrolling Yolo County children in insurance programs such as Medi-Cal and Healthy Families," said Katie Villegas, Executive Director, Yolo County Children's Alliance, in a press release. "This grant provides a timely opportunity to reach many more potentially eligible children. There are four free and low cost health insurance options available for families in Yolo County, including Medi-Cal, Healthy Families, Kaiser Child Health Plan and Healthy Kids, all of which include comprehensive medical, dental, vision, mental health and prescription coverage."

"(These) awards will help fulfill President Obama's pledge to assure the health and well-being of our nation's children," said Secretary Sebelius. "With millions of Americans either out of work or otherwise struggling to make ends meet during this recession, there is an even greater urgency to bring steady, reliable health care to children in these families who may have lost their coverage."

"This was a competitive grant with 400 applicants from all over the United States," said Katie Villegas in the press release. "The Yolo County Children's Alliance is thrilled for this opportunity to serve our community and grateful to our hard-working partners: CommuniCare Health Centers, RISE, Inc., Yolo Family Resource Center and Winter's Healthcare Clinic and our supporters including Congressman Mike Thompson, Senate Pro Tem Darrell Steinberg, the Yolo County Board of Supervisors, all Yolo County Mayors & City Councils, the Yolo Board of Education, the Yolo Department of Employment and Social Services, the California Children's Health Initiative, First 5 Yolo and the Salud Clinic Advisory Board."

For information about free and low cost health insurance for children ages 0-18, call the Yolo County Children's Alliance at (866) 607-4030 inside Yolo County or (530) 757-5558.

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Planes, Trains and Automobiles (Those Aren't Pillows Edition)" — This perennial holiday favorite starring John Candy and Steve Martin is being re-released on DVD with a few new extras slapped on: a deleted scene ("Airplane Food") and three featurettes — a documentary on the making of the film, a tribute to John Candy, and short on director John Hughes.

"Black Adder Remastered: The Ultimate Edition" — Before Rowan Atkinson became Mr. Bean; before Hugh Laurie limped his way into American hearts as House, MD, the two men starred in one of the smartest, funniest and devilishly clever television series ever produced. "Black Adder" ran for four seasons — each one taking place during a different period in British history: the age of Richard III, Elizabeth II, the Regency Period and World War I.

This boxed set has been remastered to look better on high-def screens and includes not only all four seasons (with tons of extras), but also all the "Black Adder" specials, including my favorite, "Black Adder's Christmas Carol." There also is an extra disc that includes the 90-minute, 25-year retrospective "Black Adder Rides Again," plus interviews with the cast, a feature on the costumes, and rehearsal footage from the fourth season.

"It's Garry Shandling's Show: The Complete Series" — Wow. I never thought this would ever come out on DVD, but here it is — Garry Shandling's groundbreaking Showtime series. Shandling took the sitcom formula, turned it inside out and created some of the most surreal, hilarious television of the 1980s, which influenced shows from "Seinfeld" to "30 Rock." The boxed set of 16 discs includes all four seasons of the show,

"Barbie All Dolled Up: Celebrating 50 Years of Barbie"
By Jennie D'Amato
(Running Press, $29.95)
Reviewed by Katy Olson

Escorting readers down Barbie's pink-brick memory lane — from her glamorous stints as a surgeon and Oscar-winner, rock-and-roller and superhero, to her dashing boyfriend Ken's debut in 1961 (he donned a red bathing suit and sandals, and carried a matching towel!) — Jennie D'Amato's "Barbie All Dolled Up: Celebrating 50 Years of Barbie" chronicles Barbie and her iconic influence on pop culture, fashion and the imagination of little girls worldwide.

Perfect for Barbie fans and collectors, this friendly and beautifully designed compendium charts the evolution of the world's favorite doll and legendary star, from creator Ruth Handler's initial inspiration (she saw her young daughter Barbara's frustration with flat paper dolls) to this year's 50th anniversary celebration of Barbie's debut at the 1959 New York Toy Fair. With re-creations of the 1964 Barbie Fan Club introduction letter and membership card, and a Barbie fashion magazine, the book brings back memories for girls now grown, and enlightens the doll's current crop of fans of her long, colorful history as a pop icon and, for many, best girlfriend.

Fans will remember the outfits and accessories that covered their childhood bedroom floors: the Goin' Camping Camper that Malibu Barbie drove down to the beach, the Mountain Ski Cabin from the early 1970s, and the Bob Mackie, Armani and Oscar de la Renta-designed gowns that debuted in the 1990s. Bright Technicolor photos of the fabulous shoes, voluminous ball gowns and licensed products from comic books to knitting kits bring Barbie and her legacy to life.

Pumpkin Seeds Are a Little Taste of Fall

Pumpkins are one of the highpoints of the fall harvest. The fruit originated in Central America. Pumpkins — like cantaloupes, cucumbers and squash — belong to the Cucurbitaceae or gourd family. Most of the pumpkins that are grown in the United States are from Illinois and become available in October.

Whole pumpkins and the carved pumpkin shell are often used as decorative items. The interior pulp is a nutritious addition to savory and sweet dishes, but don't throw out the seeds! Pumpkin seeds make a tasty snack that's low in calories, high in protein and rich in fiber, as well as vitamins B, E and K, and zinc, iron and magnesium. Pumpkin seeds also contain many beneficial fatty acids and amino acids.

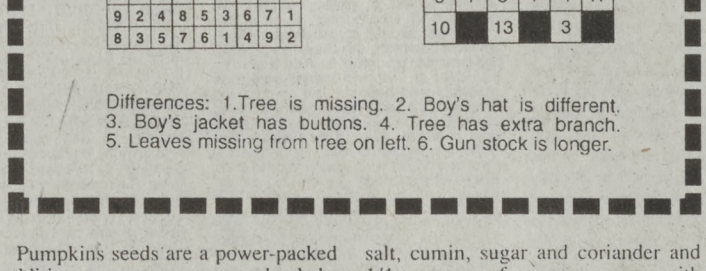
The flat, dark-green pumpkin seeds, or pepitas as they are often called, are covered with a yellow-white husk. Pepitas are a key ingredient in Mexican recipes, and are often used in the cuisines of many other cultures.

Toasted pumpkin seeds add a nutritious crunch when used as a topping for sautéed vegetables or salads. Grinding pumpkin seeds with garlic, parsley or cilantro and adding olive oil and lemon juice to the mixture makes a wonderful salad dressing. Pumpkin seeds are also a delicious addition to oatmeal-raisin cookies or granola recipes.

Pumpkins seeds are a power-packed addition to sauces, soups and salads, and they're a healthy snack. Roasting and adding spices enhances their flavor. This recipe provides a few suggestions for preparing pumpkin seeds.

TOASTED PUMPKIN SEEDS

1 pumpkin (field or sugar), about 2 cups
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons salt, plus more for sprinkling
Cooking oil spray



1. Cut a fresh, ripe pumpkin in half. Remove the membrane and seeds and as much pulp as possible. Separate out seeds (leaving some of the pulp on adds to the flavor). Do not rinse the seeds, as they will steam instead of toasting. Pick through the seeds and remove any that are split. Do not place the seeds on a paper towel, as seeds will stick to the paper. Instead, place seeds on a sheet of waxed or parchment paper, or on lightly oiled aluminum foil paper.

2. Heat oven to 300 F. For Spicy Pumpkin Seeds, mix 1/2 teaspoon each of garlic powder, onion powder, salt, cumin, sugar and coriander and 1/4 teaspoon of cayenne pepper with the seeds before toasting.

For Sweet Pumpkin Seeds, mix 3 tablespoons of dark brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon of salt with the seeds before toasting.

3. Spread the vegetable oil on a shallow pan. Sprinkle seeds over oil in single layer. Bake 10 minutes, stir and spray with the cooking oil spray. Bake for another 10 to 15 minutes, stir and spray with the cooking oil spray. Bake for an additional 10 to 15 minutes as needed or until lightly browned, being careful not to burn them. Remove from the oven and sprinkle with salt. The seeds will become crisper as they cool. Shell the seeds, or for more fiber, eat them whole. Store in an airtight container.

NATURAL LIGHT & plenty of space lend an 'airy' feel to the new library branch

FOR SALE: a special section shows off books & magazines available for sale

Interim branch manager Crista Cannariato

LIBRARY: Workers are shutting down a temporary library branch at Jefferson & Merkley, and readying to move back to their 'old' location held in English as well as Spanish and Russian.

The new 18,000-square foot building will replace a smaller, 8,400-square foot building that previously occupied the same site, on land donated by the late Arthur F. Turner, a West Sacramento developer.

The new building boasts a light-and-airy feel, with natural light from clerestory windows, a high ceiling, and seating for 102 people – nearly three times what the old building could accommodate.

A new community room -- with a big-screen "projection" TV -- will seat 185 people. The "old" community room only held 75.

"We have 30 Internet computers and one that just has Microsoft Word," said Crista Cannariato, interim librarian (branch manager). "In total, we spent about $250,000 on expanding the collection – books, talking books, DVDs, music and some electronic resources. We've taken over the 'toy library' from the city – it has educational toys for ages 0-5, and for a nominal fee of $15 per year, you can access thousands of toys. The teen area will have booths, like in a diner."

"Everybody's really excited about how beautiful the new space is, and the different areas in it."
